

GCRC Awards Banquet

"If there's one antidote for apathy, it's involvement," commented Dr. James T. Guines, acting superintendent, D.C. Public Schools, in a speech he presented at Gallaudet on Saturday evening, March 21. Guines gave the keynote address at the second annual Awards and Recognition Program of the Gallaudet Community Relations Council.

Reading three of his own poems and complimenting the GCRC on its theme for the evening, "A Strong Community Through the Participation of All People," Guines set the tone for the event by encouraging and praising those who get things done. Guines himself was recognized for his work in public education with an Individual Achievement Award.

Other awards presented were the following:

Outreach Ministry to the Rev. Henry Gregory, for the Shiloh Baptist Church Silent Mission.
Community Outreach to Willard Shorter, Sr.
Public Safety to Deloris Barnes.
Basketball Championship Trophy to Gallaudet with second place trophy to the 5th District Police Team.
International Year of the Disabled Person Award to Tim Medina.
Individual Achievement Awards to Carl Moore, David Chapman and George Boyd.

Remember!

The GCAA Charter Day Banquet, with MC Alan Crammatte and guest speaker Robert Smithdas begins at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 11 in the upper level of the Dining Hall. For reservations contact Polly Peikoff in the Alumni and Public Relations Office, x5104 TDD or x5100 voice.

The GCAA art, crafts and photography exhibit will be held in the Washburn Arts Center April 7-12.

Other Charter Day activities on April 11 include a free staff picnic, tours of the Learning Center and SUB/Ely, and the Phi Kappa Zeta bazaar.

Don't miss it!

This view of the lower level entrance between SUB and Ely also shows the covered walkway between the two buildings.

SUB/Ely complex almost completed

by Sue Lyon
and Mike Kalka

The SUB/Ely renovation is now about 80% completed, and barring an act of God, the building should be ready to begin receiving its occupants around the end of May. Perhaps some occupants could move in as early as April.

All exterior construction is finished except for some minor touch-up work and landscaping. The bulk of the work is now concentrated on the interior. During a recent tour, carpeting was being installed on the third floor of Ely.

The basement, first and second floors of Ely are being painted and this phase should move rapidly.

The SUB part of the renovation is probably the most exciting. The main level will have the Post Office, Rathskeller, Snack Bar, Student Union Office and Art/Exhibit/Study Room. The lower level of SUB will consist of the Bookstore, Atrium, Riggs Bank and six new AMF bowling lanes. Adjacent to the bowling area will be the game room for pinball machines, pool table, card tables, etc.

Painting has begun on the interior of SUB and this process should move along quickly. Carpeting will be installed in certain areas after all painting and touch-up work is completed.

The small auditorium (188 seats) is in the finishing stages and the concrete patio between SUB and the auditorium is in place. Plants and trees will be planted soon.

If you would like to tour SUB/Ely see Sue Lyon in the Student Union Office or Mike Kalka in the Alumni and Public Relations Office.

Campus police raid nets stolen GCTV equipment

On March 5 campus police personnel, accompanied by detectives from the Prince Georges County Police Department, converged on a Temple Hills, MD residence in search of property allegedly stolen from Gallaudet College Television.

The raid was a successful one, and campus police recovered an estimated $10,000 worth of TV equipment belonging to Gallaudet.

The police were acting on a tip supplied by a confidential source that the house contained all the equipment of a television studio and that part of that equipment had been removed from Gallaudet.

Library Bits & Pieces

Periodical collection

by Maureen Sullivan

Do you have a special interest in aviation? literature? fine arts? a foreign country? These are just some of the topics covered by subscriptions recently added to the periodical collection of the Gallaudet College Library.

You will find the periodical collection arranged alphabetically by title on the middle level (east) of the Learning Center. There are signs on the ends of each row of shelves to indicate which titles may be found in a particular section. The general collection is grouped together, followed by the deaf-related collection. Backfiles, or volumes from previous years, are shelved here with many titles available on microfilm. Current issues of titles in the general collection are displayed on the sloping shelves near the middle level (south) lounge area. Located adjacent to this is the current newspaper collection. Some frequently requested titles are "on reserve" at the Central Desk.

To find out which periodicals are available on campus, consult the Library's "Union List of Periodicals."

CEC to sponsor jogging benefit

The Gallaudet College Student Chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children is sponsoring a Walk-Jog-Run-A-Thon on April 5 at the Gallaudet College track to raise money for benefit services to handicapped children.

The event will get underway that Sunday at 2 p.m. You can get your pledge cards from either of the secretary's desks at MSSD or KDES, or from Norma H. Clapp, Campus Mail #1473; Jan Gemmill, Beth Sizemore and Lou Ellen McMillan, Dorm V; Charles Charreir, Peet Hall; Brenda Cordoza and Jennifer Nicol, Cogswell Hall; Maureen Durkin and Frank Gionfriddo, Clerc Hall; and Joyce Groode, Department of Education, Fowler Hall.

Participants must hand in their pledge cards to Norma Clapp, Box 1473 by April 2.

Prizes will be given to the person who runs the most laps and the person who collects the most pledge money.

The general collection of some 948 titles (60 of these are new subscriptions) includes newspapers, magazines, journals and other serials. These offer information on a wide range of subjects such as technology, family health, sports and education. They reflect a variety of interests that are both academic and non-academic. There is sure to be something for everyone in this diverse collection.

In our fast-paced world, periodicals can play an important role in keeping us informed and up-to-date. Among the Library's new subscriptions are The Manchester Guardian Weekly and The Times of India which may be found in the newspaper collection area. Listed below are other new titles which have been received and placed on the shelves. (Unfortunately, some of these have already "disappeared" from the Library.)

Part of the Gallaudet Television video production equipment was found in the bedroom of a Temple Hills, MD residence.

Gary Wormley has been selected as "Driver of the Month" by the Transportation Department. Wormley came to the Department three years ago from WMATA where he worked as a bus driver and later as a dispatcher. He is generally considered by the Department to be one of the best bus drivers to ever work at Gallaudet, is always well prepared for any trip whether it's in DC, New York or Kentucky, and always knows exactly where to go.

Police raid

officers, conducted the search of the premises. Also present was a member of the staff from Gallaudet Television who accompanied the police in order to identify College property. The PG County police detectives, considering it Gallaudet's case, were on hand merely to preserve the peace.

The search uncovered numerous items of expensive television production equipment. "The place was filled with video equipment," remarked Earing, who supervised the operation. "I saw studio lights, projectors, film canisters, video-cassettes of all sizes, videotape recorders, video cameras and editing devices. You could easily have put together a complete television production studio with all that gear."

Campus police officers confiscated all items of equipment that could be identified as belonging to Gallaudet College. The equipment was transported to the campus police station where crime scene technicians from the Metropolitan Police Department photographed and processed the recovered property. The action by the crime scene specialists was necessary in order to pursue prosecution.

Campus police spokesmen refused to divulge the name or names of individuals they believe responsible for carting away the equipment. "The only thing I am at liberty to say at this time is that a warrant has been issued and we expect to make an arrest in the case," commented Lt. Earing.

"Just because you get off campus," noted Sgt. Jones, "doesn't mean you are going to get away."

Project opportunities for the severely handicapped

The Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services within the Department of Education has announced three opportunities for project funding focusing on severely handicapped children and youth. Included in the category are deaf children who have at least one secondary handicapping condition.

Proposals to RFP 81-36 are due April 24; the purpose of this procurement is to secure from one to six model projects which will develop, implement, evaluate and communicate about innovative educational services designed to facilitate interaction between severely handicapped children and their non-handicapped peers and adults. Proposals responding to RFP 81-37 are due April 27; the purpose is to secure from two to four plans for enhancing special education and related services to severely handicapped children and youth which will impact upon an urban or state-wide area. Proposals to RFP 81-032 are due April 30; the purpose is to secure from four to six exemplary projects on models for deinstitutionalization or community interaction of severely handicapped children and youth.

These three RFPs and accompanying application forms are available from the Office of Sponsored Research.

President's Office Notes

Board of Trustees meets

At the March 18 and 19 meeting of the Gallaudet College Board of Trustees, the Board heard presentations of three Gallaudet students on the topic of the recently initiated Student Leadership Training program here. Jodee Scharen; Charles Kelley, a sophomore from Colorado; and Minnie Wilding, a sophomore from Idaho, spoke to the Board about their own experiences in leadership training.

Sue Lyon, Frank Turk and John Schuchman gave the Board an overview of the program and its purpose at the Wednesday evening after-dinner meeting. Board members asked the students several questions about their capabilities as a result of the training, including, "How well will you demonstrate your leadership skills among hearing persons?" "Have you invited Toastmasters International or other similar groups to participate?" To this question, Lyon responded that the program is new and they had not, but that is a good suggestion on which she will follow up.

The regular committee and business meetings of the Board were held on campus March 19. The three working committees, Resources, Trustees and Mission, met on Thursday morning. In the afternoon, in the MSSD Penthouse, the general session convened to hear the recommendations of the committees. The Board approved the nomination of Peter Wisher as professor emeritus and requests for sabbatical leave for Shirley Jordan, J. Philip Goldberg, Carolyn Jones, Joseph Kinner and Jorge Soler. Ronald Nomeland's appointment to chairman of the Department of Educational Technology was approved. Two new Master's Degree programs were approved: Master of Science in Educational Technology, Special Education/Deafness and Master of Arts, Linguistics. Sally Revoile was promoted to associate professor and awarded tenure by action of the Board.

The Board granted sabbatical leave to Christopher Rose and Barbara Peterson, faculty members at MSSD.

A list of proposed candidates for membership on the KDES Advisory Board was approved. The nominees are Phillis Harper, Bob Lennan, Harvey Corson, Barbara Kannapell, Jackie Mendolsohn, Bill Pharis, Eva Baker, Glenn Anderson and Aaron Favors.

In addition to these actions, the Board approved the following honorary degree nominees:

- Loy E. Golladay, Gallaudet alumnus 1934, retired teacher, writer, poet.
- Mark Medoff, author of "Children of a Lesser God."
- Father Augustin Yanes, Spanish deaf leader, writer and lecturer in Spain and Latin America.

- Dr. Frank Bowe, former chief executive officer of the American Coalition of Citizens with Disabilities, presently serving as the U.S. representative to the United Nations for the International Year of Disabled Persons. Bowe will be Gallaudet's 117th Commencement speaker this spring.

The Board passed resolutions in honor of the late Allan Hayhurst of the British Association of the Deaf, who died recently; and to Dr. Herman Spivey of the Gallaudet Board of Fellows. Dr. Ben Hoffmeyer of the American School for the Deaf in Hartford, CT was honored on the occasion of his retirement as superintendent there.

Gallaudet College is an equal opportunity employer-education institution. Programs and services offered by Gallaudet College received substantial financial support from the Department of Education.

GCRC awards

Hechinger Company, Madison National Bank, National Bank of Washington, Riggs National Bank and Sears, Roebuck and Company—contributed the trophies and plaques.

In addition, Community Service Awards were given by the Mt. Olivet Heights Civic Association to Flava Conley, the Owens Place Block Club to Ruth Blank, the Ivy City-Trinidad

Citizens Association to Garrett Terrill, the Corcoran Street Block Club to Clifton L. Tollard, the N.E. Neighborhood House to Daisy Powell, the Royal Family Block Club to Clarissa Lindsay, the Public Interest Civic Association to the Rev. William Bynum and the Holbrook Street Block Club to Irene Stephenson.

The GCRC presented checks for $150 to the Community Service Center for the Hearing Impaired of Rhode Island Avenue and the Metropolitan Boys and Girls Club, No. 9, for their community work. One sad note sounded during the evening was the announcement that the Community Service Center may have to close because of insufficient funds.

The Gallaudet College Board of Trustees presented a special resolution to long-time GCRC Chairman George A. Boyd commending him for his service to the Council and his community. Boyd in turn thanked Council members for their hard work.

Tim Medina of WTTG-TV carried out with aplomb his duties as Master of Ceremonies, even managing to keep the audience of about 250 members of the community laughing with the impromptu jokes designed to fill the unexpected gap between the end of the program and the reception following. The musical sign group "Love and Inspiration" provided the entertainment for the evening.

MSSD students learn about drugs

MSSD students got a chance to learn about crime and its consequences and about the use of drugs from D.C. Police Officer David Chapman and Gallaudet Campus Police Officer Dave Wertheim at a March 19 presentation in the MSSD cafeteria.

The program, co-sponsored by the MSSD Learning Resources Center and the Gallaudet Community Relations Council, spurred many questions from the more than 200 MSSD students on hand. They viewed drug samples, brochures and posters brought by Officer Chapman, who is from the Fifth District Police Headquarters and also a member of the GCRC. According to Michele Seghetti, LRC assistant, students were very interested in finding out what the drugs were and what their effects were. Seghetti said many were shocked by crime statistics given by Chapman, especially the number of drug-related arrests that took place last year in the Metropolitan area.

Wertheim talked to the students about his role as a Gallaudet policeman and explained what would happen on campus if someone got caught with drugs.

Cindy Rohr, an English teacher at MSSD, served as interpreter for the evening.

Contracts process to be simplified

by Dan Bryant

Two significant changes are forthcoming in contract development procedures which will make it easier for departments to initiate contracts with outside vendors. The development of a standard Consulting Services Agreement and the revision of the Contract Development Plan will be completed within the coming weeks, thus simplifying those tasks required in order to secure contractual services.

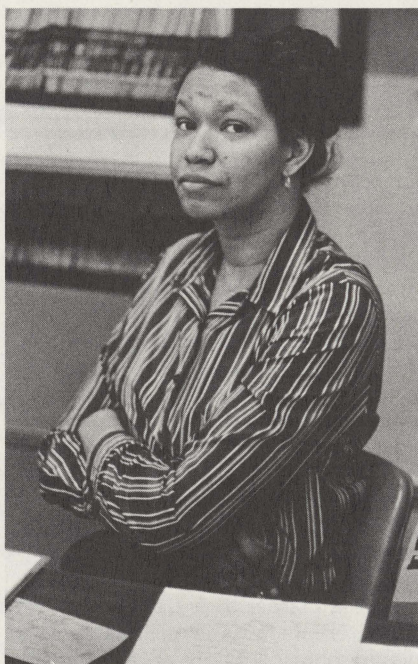

With a recent revision to Gallaudet College Policy #15:02:00, the Central Administration has made it possible for individual departments to initiate contracts for consulting services by using the Standard Consulting Services Agreement. Under the new policy, the department may select a consultant, complete the Consulting Services Agreement and proceed with the consulting work under the signature of the appropriate vice president and the contracts officer. It will no longer be necessary to initiate a Contract Development Plan and await its processing by the Contracts Office. All that will be required is to send the Consulting Services Agreement to the Contracts Office for final signature and distribution.

It is important to note that this new procedure applies only to consulting services for which the total contract amount is less than $5,000. For contracts involving other products or services, and for contracts exceeding $5,000 in value, the standard processing guidelines shown in Policy 7:11:00 apply.

The processing of all other contracts will be simplified through a second pending change, the revision of the Contract Development Plan. The obvious change in the CDP will be a new format. The format will be highlighted by a series of step-by-step instructions to guide the initiator through the completion of the document. Signature requirements will also be clearly defined, and overall, the CDP will be changed to minimize the time required for completion. Instead, the new CDP will provide the Contracts Office with the data needed to develop a contract without requiring extensive efforts on the part of individual departments.

Both of these changes will be formally announced in the near future. At that time, Budget Unit Heads will be notified of the changes by a memo from the Contracts Office. The memo will cover a package containing samples of the new forms and complete instructions for their use. Questions can be answered by the Contracts Office.
